

What does it mean to Fireweed?

Undertaking exploration and mine development activities that respect the environment, benefit local communities, and enhance project and investment certainty.

Environmental Stewardship

Climate Action

Net Zero

Offset

1,716

tonnes of GHG emissions for 2021 and 2022, equivalent to 345 cars

(typical annual emissions for a passenger vehicle)

Alternative Energy

Solar and battery power system installation

Strong compliance performance

495

water samples collected

Full-time onsite Indigenous environmental monitors

Monitoring in 2023

Enhance understanding through field studies

24

environmental professionals involved

3,560

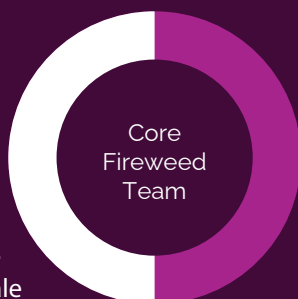

cumulative in-field study hours

16

ongoing wildlife and aquatic studies

Workplace Diversity

● male
● female

Number of Kaska Nation employees in 2023

>50

Workplace personnel age range

18-78

Benefitting Communities

Community Support

Employment and Business Opportunities

Training

Community-based training opportunities in partnership with:

Yukon Learn
Digital Literacy,
Money Matters

Yukon University

Yukon University
Wilderness First Aid

Community and Cultural Event Sponsorship

 308 people employed

2023 Workplace Performance

Five Drill Program and Field Studies:

21

Number of All-personnel
"Safety Sunday"
Meetings

880

Field-level Risk Assessments

ZERO

Lost Time Injuries

127,000

people hours on site,
>50% with Yukoners

130

truck trips delivering goods primarily from Yukon suppliers

~50%

of field program expenditures with Indigenous-affiliated businesses

Critical Metals for Generations